KEY TERMS.

AFAB	Assigned female at birth
AMAB	Assigned male at birth
Ally	A person of one social identity group who stands up in support of members of another group; typically a member of a dominant group standing beside member(s) of a group being discriminated against or treated unjustly
Cisgender	Denoting or relating to a person whose self-identity conforms with the gender that corresponds to their biological sex; not transgender.
Colonial Masculinity	On one hand it's the scripts given to White, European, Colonising men. A masculinity defined against the behaviours of colonial subjects who could be considered men. At the same time, it's the scripts beaten, disciplined into colonial subjects of what a colonised male subject should be, do, aspire to.
Critical Race Theory	A theoretical framework in the social sciences focused upon the application of critical theory, a critical examination of society and culture, to the intersection of race, law, and power. CRT proposes that white supremacy and racial power are maintained over time, and that the law may play a role in this process and investigated the possibility of transforming the relationship between law and racial power.
Cultural Appropriation	This almost always involves members of the dominant culture (or those who identify with it) "borrowing" from the cultures of minority groups.
Diaspora	Scattered populations whose origins lie within a smaller geographic locale. Diaspora can also refer to the movement of the population from its original homeland.
Black	A member of a dark-skinned people, especially one of African, Australian and Caribbean Aboriginal ancestry. A term used in certain countries, often in socially based systems of racial classification or of ethnicity.
Black Masculinity	"Black masculinity is defined in three over arching categories: perception, expectation, and representation. It is impossible to define Black masculinity without addressing the stereotypes that are attributed to the portrayals of Black men in our society". - Audre Lorde.

Black Feminism	The belief that sexism, class oppression, gender identity and racism are impossible to separate. These concepts relate to each other through intersectionality
Brown	Brown or brown people is a racial and ethnic classification. Like black people and white people, it is a metaphor for race based on human skin color. ... In Brazil, brown people is a cognate term for pardo
Desi	A term referring to something or someone who is from the Indian subcontinent. The Indian subcontinent is comprised of the following major countries: India, Pakistan, Bangladesh, Sri Lanka, Nepal, Bhutan, and the Maldives.
LGBTQIA	Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, Queer, Questioning, Intersex and Asexual
Equality	A state in which all individuals or social groups are treated fairly, equally and no less favourably; be it by virtue of their race, gender, disability, religion or belief, sexual orientation or age. Equality stands for inclusion and is against discrimination.
Fascism	A form of radical authoritarian nationalism that came to prominence in early 20th-century Europe, influenced by national syndicalism. Fascism originated in Italy during World War I and spread to other European countries.
Female	The biological term for the sex of an organism, referring to animals and humans or plants. The sex of most mammals, including humans, is genetically determined by XX for females.
Female Masculinity	A new understanding of masculine behaviors and identities which go against the societal norm of embodying masculinity.
Feminism	Fight for equality of all genders.
Femininity	A set of behaviours, presentations and roles which are culturally associated with being a woman and/or possessing female sex characteristics. People of any gender identity or sexual orientation can be feminine, but those who are assigned female at birth often experience societal pressure to be so.
Gender	Gender refers to a person's experience of their identity relative to the categories of masculinity and femininity and any other genders recognised by their society. Every person's gender is a complex and unique experience, and it can be difficult to express this gender to others.

Gender Fluid	A gender identity which refers to a gender which varies over time. A gender fluid person may at any time identify as male, female, neutrois, or any other non-binary identity, or some combination of identities.
Gender Queer	Gender queer is an umbrella term with a similar meaning to non-binary. It can be used to describe any gender identities other than man and woman, thus outside of the gender binary.
Hypermasculinity	Term for the exaggeration of male stereotypical behavior, such as an emphasis on physical strength, aggression, and sexuality.
Heteronormative	The belief that people can only fall into distinct and complementary genders (man and woman) with fixed traditional gender roles. It assumes that heterosexuality is the only sexual orientation or the only norm.
Hegemonic masculinity	Is defined as the current configuration of practice that legitimizes men's dominant position in society and which justifies the subordination of women, and other marginalized ways of being a man. AKA Toxic Masculinity
Homophobia	Is the fear of being thought queer because of behavior that is typically considered gender atypical.
Intersectional	Is a concept often used in critical theories to describe the ways in which oppressive institutions (racism, sexism, homophobia, transphobia, ableism, xenophobia, classism, etc.) are interconnected and cannot be examined separately from one another. The concept first came from legal scholar Kimberlé Crenshaw in 1989 and is largely used in critical theories, especially Feminist theory, when discussing systematic oppression. When possible, credit Kimberlé Crenshaw for coining the term "intersectionality" and bringing the concept to wider attention
Intersectional Feminism	A perspective within feminism that doesn't exclude people from the movement based on their Gender, Race and Class.
Intersex	An intersex person has sex characteristics e.g. sexual anatomy, reproductive organs, and/or chromosome patterns that do not fit the typical definition of male or female. This may be apparent at birth or become so later in life.
Inclusive Masculinity	Men becoming more inclusive within their gender.
Islamophobia	The prejudice, hatred, or bigotry directed towards Islam or Muslims.

Racism	The belief that all members of each race possess characteristics, abilities, or qualities specific to that race, especially so as to distinguish it as inferior or superior to another race/s.
Male	The biological term for a sex of an organism, referring to animals and humans or plants. The sex of most mammals, including humans, is genetically determined by XY for males.
Male Gaze	Showing or watching events or looking at women from a man's point of view
Man	Is a gender identity which is part of the gender binary. Man is a term used for adults, and corresponds to the terms boy (for children), male (adjective) and masculinity.
Masculinity	Is a set of behaviours, presentations and roles which are culturally associated with being a man and/or possessing male sex characteristics. People of any gender identity or sexual orientation can be masculine, but those who are assigned male at birth often experience societal pressure to be so. Transgender people who are masculine may be described as transmasculine.
Manhood	The notion of manhood is exclusively concerned with the concept of being the 'breadwinner', which agitates hierarchical structures, provoking one to be 'tough' and stimulates phrases such as "act like a man", which is, by far, more complex than just an 'act'.
Marginalise	To relegate to the fringes, out of the mainstream; make seem unimportant: to place in a position of marginal importance, influence, or power.
Masculinity	A set of behaviours, presentations, and roles which are culturally associated with being a man and/or possessing male sex characteristics. People of any gender identity or sexual orientation can be masculine, but those who are assigned male at birth often experience societal pressure to be so.
Masculinity Bias	Bias toward the observation of/interviews with males in a culture.
Matriarchy	A form of social organization in which the mother or oldest female is the head of the family, and descent and relationship are reckoned through the female line; government or rule by a woman or women

Misogyny	Hatred of, contempt for, or prejudice against women or girls. Misogyny can be manifested in numerous ways, including social exclusion, sex discrimination, hostility, androcentrism, patriarchy, male privilege, belittling of women, violence against women, and sexual objectification.
Misogynoir	A term referring to misogyny directed towards Black women, where race and gender both play roles in bias.
Mixedraceness	A person that descends of two or more different races; also known as mixed, biracial or multiracial.
Muslim	A follower of the religion of Islam.
Non -Binary	A form of gender identity which reject the gender binary.
Oppression	When a person or a group of people are subjected to unfair treatment by those in positions of power.

Pedagogies Of Social Justice	The art of teaching through the lenses of Social Justice. This includes utilising an intersectional approach to race, gender, faith, disability, class...
POC	People of Colour
Political Blackness	Political blackness is the idea that all non-white people can define themselves under one term: black.
Privilege	A special right, advantage, or immunity granted or available only to a particular person or group.
Prejudice	Hatred towards someone based on their identity. Example: An oppressed person of colour can be prejudice against privileged races but cannot be racist.
Pro Black	Definition of PRO: For; in respect of; on account of; in behalf of. Thus, to be pro-Black doesn't mean to be anti-white.
QTIPOC	Queer Trans and Intersex People of Colour
Queer	An umbrella term for sexual and gender minorities that are not heterosexual and/or cisgender.
Resistant femininity	Women embodying resistant femininity reject the conventional norms of femininity in society and adopt liberated lifestyles and identities.

Representation	Refers to equality in opportunity and visibility. For example, representative media is media that is reflective of the variety of races, cultures, genders or religions that its entire readership belongs to.
Social Justice	Social justice is the fair and just relation between the individual and society.
Stereotyping	When you judge a group of people who are different from you based on your own and/or others opinions and/or encounters.
Trans-Man	Someone who is both a man and transgender/transsexual. Trans men were assigned female at birth but their gender identity is male.
Trans-Masculine	A term used to describe transgender people who were assigned female at birth, but identify with masculinity to a greater extent than with femininity.
White Feminism	"White feminism is a set of beliefs that allows for the exclusion of issues that specifically affect women of color. It is 'one size-fits all' feminism, where middle class White women are the mold that others must fit. It is a method of practicing feminism, not an indictment of every individual White feminist, everywhere, always." Cate BattyMamzelle
White Privilege	"An invisible package of unearned assets that I can count on cashing in each day, but about which I was ""meant"" to remain oblivious. White privilege is like an invisible weightless knapsack of special provisions, maps, passports, codebooks, visas, clothes, tools, and blank checks." Peggy McIntosh"
White supremacy	An ideology centered upon the belief, and promotion of the belief, that white people are superior. It is argued by critical race theorist that all white people have a level of white supremacy values because of the media, education and politics have embedded whiteness as superior in society.
White Washing	A term used to describe white actors or actress playing non-fictional and historical non-white character roles. Therefore writing and disconnecting historical events and achievements to the non-white community
Xenophobia	Fear and hatred of strangers or foreigners or of anything that is strange or foreign.

HASHTAGS TO FOLLOW.

#WhyWeCantWait and #BlackGirlsMatter

Are both hashtags utilised by Kimberle Crenshaw to raise awareness around the unequal treatment of black women, more specifically the abuse of black girls in public schools. The hugely disproportionate mistreatment of black girls highlights the intersection of both gendered and racial violence. The hashtag are aimed ultimately at elevating the life experiences of women and girls of colour and pushing for the incorporation of gender in our definition of racial justice. And for raising awareness of the fact that girls of colour face much harsher school discipline than their white peers but are excluded from current efforts to address the school-to-prison pipeline.

#BlackLivesMatter

An activist movement created in the United States that began in the wake of the July 2013 acquittal of George Zimmerman in the Florida shooting death of African-American teen Trayvon Martin. The Black Lives Matter movement campaigns against police brutality in the United States against African-Americans and has presented a form of solidarity globally to the black experience with spin off hashtags worldwide.

#BlackGirlMagic

"We're using it to celebrate ourselves because historically black women haven't had the type of support that other groups have... Black Girl Magic tries to counteract the negativity that we sometimes hold within ourselves and is sometimes placed on us by the outside world." Cashawn Thompson

#BlackTransEverything

@BlackTransMedia reframes the value and worth of black trans people by building community/media/education for racial and gender justice

#Oscarssowhite

At the 2016 Oscars, only white actors and actresses were nominated for the 20 Academy Awards in the top four categories. For the second year in a row. Reports showed that in 2014, only 2% of Academy voters were black while 94% were white. Beyond the Academy, the hashtag focused attention on the lack of diversity in the film industry at large. Over the last 100 years, for example, only 15% of 'top film roles' have been given to minority actors.

#SandraBland

A vigil in the memory of Sandra Bland, a 28-year-old black woman who was found hanged in a jail cell in Waller County, Texas, on July 13, 2015. Her death was classified as a suicide by the county coroner and was followed by protests against her arrest disputing the cause of death and alleging racial violence against her.

#GirlsLikeUs

"A space created by and for trans* women with the purpose of connecting, upLIFTing one another, and sharing resources and stories. It reaches across generations and color, location and socioeconomic standing, established by @janetmock in March 2012 to empower trans women to live visibly and connect in sisterhood and solidarity." --Janet Mock

#SolidarityIsForWhiteWomen

Sparked in 2013 by Hood Feminism blogger Mikki Kendall after Hugo Schwyzer, a gender studies professor and blogger based at Pasadena City College, admitted to having affairs with his students and silencing women of color bloggers on Twitter. Kendall argued that sites like Geminist and Jezebel had been complicit in Schwyzer's treatment of women of color, telling the Guardian: "When I launched the hashtag #SolidarityIsForWhiteWomen, I thought it would largely be a discussion between people impacted by the latest bout of problematic behavior from mainstream white feminists."

#YesAllWomen

After the mass shooting in 2014 on the University of California Santa Barbara campus, where Elliot Rodger murdered six people with explicitly misogynous intent, Twitter user @Gildedspine started the hashtag for women to share their experiences with misogyny and violence. The hashtag was a play on the #NotAllMen hashtag, and subsequently inspired the #AllMenCan hashtag (which outlines ways men can be allies within feminist movements).

#RaceAnd

"#RaceAnd" is a special eight-part video series that explores the many ways that race compounds and intersects with all the other issues that impact people of color. Each video features an artist, activist or thinker sharing how their mix impacts their lives both personally and systemically. As featured subject Kay Ulanday Barrett puts it, we can't truly work toward racial justice if we "see race in a vacuum."

Artist's Talk: Sonia Boyce

12 Apr 2017 // 6:30 pm // Cinema 1 // £7.00 to £8.00

ICA exhibiting artist Sonia Boyce is in conversation with art historian Sophie Orlando discussing her work on the occasion of the exhibition Sonia Boyce: We move in her way. A new body of work created especially for the ICA, We move in her way involves the exploratory vocal and movement performances of Elaine Mitchener, Barbara Gamper and her dancers Eve Stainton, Ria Uttridge and Be van Vark, with an invited audience. The title of the work suggests two possible readings: that 'she' dictates our movements, or that we obstruct 'hers'; with both interpretations suggesting power is at play. Here, Boyce and Orlando discuss the artist's participatory practice and this new work in which Boyce has invited others to engage performatively with improvisation.
